

The made-to-order corset is losing its prestige, as the ready-to-wear corset nowadays is being made so superior, each ready-made model designed individually in every respect for the particular type of figure for which it is intended.

Every Line and Curve of an American Lady Corset

has a purpose, and can only perform its work of beautifying, when worn by the individual figure for which it is intended. In selecting your corset, be sure that you get the model just right for your figure.

We Have Them from $1 to $5, Front and Back Lace

Ricketts & Emmons D. G. Co.

HUNTING DUCKS IN AN AIRSHIP

SATURDAY CITY, N. J., Nov. 11. Kenneth Jaquith, son of a Chicago banker, returned with a passenger recently in his hydro-aeroplane with a good bag of ducks they had shot while both the ducks and the aeroplane were on the wing. The new sport has taken quite a hold here, and Mr. Jaquith has more applicants for passage on his duck shooting air voyages than he can accommodate. Those who have been shooting with Mr. Jaquith describe it as the most exciting of sports.

But the hunting has to be done outside the 3-mile territorial limit, as it is unlawful to gun from airship in federal territory.

PUBLIC SALE

at my farm, 6 miles south of Benton City, Missouri on

Mon., Nov. 13th

86 HEAD OF LIVE STOCK

HORSES AND MULES.

4 head of horses; 1 mule.

10 Head of CATTLE.

5 cows; 4 calves; 1 Short-horn bull.

68 Head of SHEEP.

31 ewes and 37 lambs.

3 fat Hogs.

Farming Implements and Household and Kitchen Furniture.

One Ford Touring car.

Terms:—Ten dollars ($10.00) and under, cash. Over that amount, payable note at 8% interest, six months time. No stock to be removed until terms are complied with.

C. R. QUINTARD

J. G. Ford, Auctioneer.

John Kemp, Clerk.

PUBLIC SALE

I will sell at public auction, at my farm, 1 1/2 miles S.E. of Mexico, known as the Tom Riden farm, on the following described property:

Friday, Nov. 17

—7 HORSES 7—

4 bay brood and work mares, from 5 to 8 years old, weighing from 1200 to 1400 lbs., two of them in foal by Jack and one in foal by horse.

The good kind, 2 big black 2-year old horses; 1 bay 2-year old filly.

—9 HEAD OF CATTLE 9—

1 fine registered Jersey cow, 2 good milk cows, 5 good weanling calves, 1 two-month-old Jersey bull calf, eligible for registry.

—18 HOGS 18—

consisting of 2 good brood sows and 12 pigs, 3 fat hogs, 1 Duroc Jersey hog, 1-year old.

35 GOOD BREEDING EWES 35

—100 CHICKENS 100—

About 7 dozen Big Buff Orpington hens, 1 1/2 dozen Buff Orpington hens.

CORN, HAY AND OATS.

About 1000 bushels of corn in the crib, about one-half of which is extra good. About 25 tons of good hay in stacks and bales. About 100 bushels of good oats.

HARNESS AND WAGONS.

1 set of new medium heavy leather farm harness, 1 set of new medium light leather farm harness, 1 set of heavy leather farm harness, 7 horse collars, 1 new farm wagon, complete, 1 good medium heavy spring wagon, 1 good low wheel wagon with new box and frame.

FARMING IMPLEMENTS.

1 new John Deere grain drill, grass seeder and fertilizer, 1 new 4-ft. disc harrow, 1 new 2-section drag harrow, 1 new 12-inch breaking plow, 1 Case gang plow, 1 McCormick binder, 1 Case cultivator, 1 double shovel, 1 new grind stone and other farm tools.

Furniture and Kitchen Utensils.

12 new dining room chairs, 1 new bed, spring and mattress, 2 new kitchen tables, 1 new washing machine wringer, tubs, etc., 1 refrigerator and other articles.

TERMS:—Six months time at 8%.

Sale begins at 10 o'clock, a. m. sharp.

Lunch will be served by ladies of the Christian Church of Mexico.

Farm of 193 acres for sale.

T. B. Edwards

J. G. Ford, Auctioneer.

J. C. Mund, and W. W. Pollock, Clerks.

DEATHS

J. A. HEADINGTON FUNERAL

Funeral services for J. A. Headington, who died Wednesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Gregory here, were conducted at the Gregory home Thursday afternoon at four o'clock by Rev. A. A. Wallace and Rev. H. P. Atkins.

The pall bearers were John Abney, Wm. Mason, S. M. Locke, George La Force, Charles Frost and J. W. Day.

The body will be sent to Jacksonville, Ill., Friday for burial, leaving Mexico at 7:30 Friday morning, and the pall bearers are requested to be at the station at that time.

A. L. JENKINS DEAD.

A. L. Jenkins, 68 years old, died at his home on South Grove street in Mexico Thursday night at 9:30 o'clock, as the result of a paralytic stroke.

As about six weeks ago Mr. Jenkins suffered a paralytic stroke and suffered another one Thursday evening.

Mr. Jenkins had lived in Mexico many years and had many friends during that time, who will mourn his death.

Mr. Jenkins was born in Andover county, November 23, 1848, and has been a resident of Mexico for thirty years. He was a member of the Christian church.

Besides his wife, he is survived by three children, of a former marriage, Mrs. Vernon Morris, of Mexico, Mrs. Lee Lewis, of Rich Hill, and one son, Arch, of this city.

The funeral was conducted from the home at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon by the Rev. Samuel McDonald, of Vandalia, and interment made in Elmwood cemetery.

The Rev. A. A. Wallace of the Presbyterian church.

WEDDINGS

Married Here.

Frank M. Stark and Miss Lillian M. Thorne both of St. Louis were married here Saturday afternoon by the Rev. A. A. Wallace of the Presbyterian church.

R. H. BALDRIDGE DEAD.

Word was received by Mrs. James Carroll Saturday afternoon of the death of her brother-in-law, R. H. Baldridge, of Kansas City. Mr. Baldridge was formerly owner of the electric light plant of Centralia and was the builder of the electric line from Mexico to Centralia. Mr. Baldridge died suddenly at his home in Kansas City, but the cause of his death was not stated in the message.

WED BY DOCTOR WALLACE.

William Appleby and Miss Mattie Jesse, both of Andover county, were married here Monday afternoon at the Presbyterian manse by the Rev. A. A. Wallace. Both young people are well known in their respective communities and the wedding was a happy one.

WAR TO BRING SIMPLER MUSIC

NEW YORK, Nov. 2. — How close a connection between world politics and opera has always been, was emphasized when Giulio Gatti-Casazza, director of the Metropolitan Opera Company, ventured to forecast the effect upon music in general and upon opera in particular of the conditions which may be expected to ensue upon the declaration of peace.

"It is not impossible that the forms of government in Europe after the war will be highly centralized," he said. "And that powerful autocracies will be in control. Such forms of government are usually favorable to artistic expression, for art is one alternative to political repression."

"While there may not be a reaction, exactly, from the complicated musical forms of the futurists and the impressionists, it is my belief that the people will be tired after the war, that they will turn away from the sophisticated in music and the elaborate and the studied, and will seek for recreation and for the utmost simplicity."

FORM A CLUB FOR SUFFRAGE.

Sixty women of the University of Missouri have re-organized for the year a society for the promotion of "Votes for Women." The organization has been in existence for four years and is growing each year. The purpose of the society is to further the cause of suffrage and to spread the influence of equal rights throughout the state.

The National College Equal Suffrage League, of which the University of Missouri was the first to join, has a membership of twenty-five schools and universities throughout the United States and is affiliated with the national suffrage organization. Miss Anna Sasse, of Brunswick, Mo., a graduate of the University, is a worker in the national movement and has just gone to Washington, D. C., after campaigning in the state of West Virginia.

SHE JUST WANTED TO BE SAFE

APPLETON, Wis., Nov. 6. — "Up home most of the evening, and I thought I had better take one with me when I came to Appleton. It is dangerous in the big cities, they tell me, and I wanted to be safe."

This was the excuse given by a young girl from Norway, Miss, who caused a mild panic on a street car here when a big revolver dropped from the floor of the car. The girl stooped, picking it up, and the conductor, who saw her, fearing trouble, called a policeman. Investigation showed that the girl wanted work and she was turned over to the civic relief head of the city.

GEO. A. WELLS DEAD.

Bert Wells left for Ocala, Iowa, Wednesday, to attend the funeral of his father, George A. Wells. Mr. Wells was 76 years of age and his death was caused by a complication of diseases. At the time of his death he was at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John F. Brown, who married Miss Stella Harper, of this city, and who now lives in Highland, La.

Mr. Wells was well known in Mexico, having spent some time with Mr. and Mrs. Bert Wells here. He was a fine Christian character, and his death is mourned with deep regret by his many friends. The Rev. A. A. Wallace of the Presbyterian church is extending sincere sympathy to the bereaved.

Miss Stella Buchanan, of New London, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Brown.

Pure Country Sorghum, in gallon pails, fine as can be made. 80c a pail at Smith Bros. d2-w1

T. B. Edwards

J. G. Ford, Auctioneer.

J. C. Mund, and W. W. Pollock, Clerks.

IS SUCCESSFUL AFTER LONG TIRESOME BATTLE

Year's Fight.

TANLAC HIGHLY PRAISED

"This Medicine Helped Me More Than Anything Else I've Ever Taken," She Asserts.

SEDALIA, Mo., November 8. — That Tanlac has a firm friend in Mrs. Katherine Yost, well known and highly respected woman of this city, who lives at 614 West Second street, was forcefully proven on October 20, when she told in a most frank and earnest manner of the relief the Master Medicine brought her. Mrs. Yost said:

"I suffered from dyspepsia and nervousness. In fact, my system generally was in a run down condition. My appetite was poor and I felt weak and tired all the time. I had been troubled in this way for three years."

"The recommendations of several friends and the accounts of its good work in kidney trouble, catarrh, constipation, rheumatism, nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of appetite and the like and has proven a fine reconstructive tonic."

Tanlac is now being especially introduced and explained in Mexico by the Buckner drug store.

James A. Quinlan, aged 63, died at his home, eight miles northeast of Mexico, at 10:30 Saturday night, after a long illness. He leaves a wife and one son, James, to mourn his death.

Mr. Quinlan was born in Newburg, New York, and came to Missouri with his parents at the age of three years. He lived for a time in Hannibal, later moving to Monroe county, where he lived, with the exception of a short time spent in Ralls county, until he came to Mexico in 1886. Besides his wife and son he is survived by two brothers, J. J. Quinlan and Dan Quinlan, of Mexico, and a sister, Mrs. Frank Mudd, of near Mexico.

The funeral services were conducted from St. Brendan's Catholic church in this city Monday morning by the Rev. Father Casey. The pall bearers were W. P. Smith, T. E. Bolen, Edward Dermody, Frank Wynn, and Hugh Donnelly and Carl Doherty. Interment was made in the Catholic cemetery here.

The Rev. A. A. Wallace of the Presbyterian church.

James A. Quinlan, aged 63, died at his home, eight miles northeast of Mexico, at 10:30 Saturday night, after a long illness. He leaves a wife and one son, James, to mourn his death.

Mr. Quinlan was born in Newburg, New York, and came to Missouri with his parents at the age of three years. He lived for a time in Hannibal, later moving to Monroe county, where he lived, with the exception of a short time spent in Ralls county, until he came to Mexico in 1886. Besides his wife and son he is survived by two brothers, J. J. Quinlan and Dan Quinlan, of Mexico, and a sister, Mrs. Frank Mudd, of near Mexico.

The funeral services were conducted from St. Brendan's Catholic church in this city Monday morning by the Rev. Father Casey. The pall bearers were W. P. Smith, T. E. Bolen, Edward Dermody, Frank Wynn, and Hugh Donnelly and Carl Doherty. Interment was made in the Catholic cemetery here.

The Rev. A. A. Wallace of the Presbyterian church.

James A. Quinlan, aged 63, died at his home, eight miles northeast of Mexico, at 10:30 Saturday night, after a long illness. He leaves a wife and one son, James, to mourn his death.

Mr. Quinlan was born in Newburg, New York, and came to Missouri with his parents at the age of three years. He lived for a time in Hannibal, later moving to Monroe county, where he lived, with the exception of a short time spent in Ralls county, until he came to Mexico in 1886. Besides his wife and son he is survived by two brothers, J. J. Quinlan and Dan Quinlan, of Mexico, and a sister, Mrs. Frank Mudd, of near Mexico.

The funeral services were conducted from St. Brendan's Catholic church in this city Monday morning by the Rev. Father Casey. The pall bearers were W. P. Smith, T. E. Bolen, Edward Dermody, Frank Wynn, and Hugh Donnelly and Carl Doherty. Interment was made in the Catholic cemetery here.

The Rev. A. A. Wallace of the Presbyterian church.

James A. Quinlan, aged 63, died at his home, eight miles northeast of Mexico, at 10:30 Saturday night, after a long illness. He leaves a wife and one son, James, to mourn his death.

Mr. Quinlan was born in Newburg, New York, and came to Missouri with his parents at the age of three years. He lived for a time in Hannibal, later moving to Monroe county, where he lived, with the exception of a short time spent in Ralls county, until he came to Mexico in 1886. Besides his wife and son he is survived by two brothers, J. J. Quinlan and Dan Quinlan, of Mexico, and a sister, Mrs. Frank Mudd, of near Mexico.

The funeral services were conducted from St. Brendan's Catholic church in this city Monday morning by the Rev. Father Casey. The pall bearers were W. P. Smith, T. E. Bolen, Edward Dermody, Frank Wynn, and Hugh Donnelly and Carl Doherty. Interment was made in the Catholic cemetery here.

The Rev. A. A. Wallace of the Presbyterian church.

James A. Quinlan, aged 63, died at his home, eight miles northeast of Mexico, at 10:30 Saturday night, after a long illness. He leaves a wife and one son, James, to mourn his death.

Mr. Quinlan was born in Newburg, New York, and came to Missouri with his parents at the age of three years. He lived for a time in Hannibal, later moving to Monroe county, where he lived, with the exception of a short time spent in Ralls county, until he came to Mexico in 1886. Besides his wife and son he is survived by two brothers, J. J. Quinlan and Dan Quinlan, of Mexico, and a sister, Mrs. Frank Mudd, of near Mexico.

The funeral services were conducted from St. Brendan's Catholic church in this city Monday morning by the Rev. Father Casey. The pall bearers were W. P. Smith, T. E. Bolen, Edward Dermody, Frank Wynn, and Hugh Donnelly and Carl Doherty. Interment was made in the Catholic cemetery here.

The Rev. A. A. Wallace of the Presbyterian church.

James A. Quinlan, aged 63, died at his home, eight miles northeast of Mexico, at 10:30 Saturday night, after a long illness. He leaves a wife and one son, James, to mourn his death.

Mr. Quinlan was born in Newburg, New York, and came to Missouri with his parents at the age of three years. He lived for a time in Hannibal, later moving to Monroe county, where he lived, with the exception of a short time spent in Ralls county, until he came to Mexico in 1886. Besides his wife and son he is survived by two brothers, J. J. Quinlan and Dan Quinlan, of Mexico, and a sister, Mrs. Frank Mudd, of near Mexico.

The funeral services were conducted from St. Brendan's Catholic church in this city Monday morning by the Rev. Father Casey. The pall bearers were W. P. Smith, T. E. Bolen, Edward Dermody, Frank Wynn, and Hugh Donnelly and Carl Doherty. Interment was made in the Catholic cemetery here.

The Rev. A. A. Wallace of the Presbyterian church.

James A. Quinlan, aged 63, died at his home, eight miles northeast of Mexico, at 10:30 Saturday night, after a long illness. He leaves a wife and one son, James, to mourn his death.

Mr. Quinlan was born in Newburg, New York, and came to Missouri with his parents at the age of three years. He lived for a time in Hannibal, later moving to Monroe county, where he lived, with the exception of a short time spent in Ralls county, until he came to Mexico in 1886. Besides his wife and son he is survived by two brothers, J. J. Quinlan and Dan Quinlan, of Mexico, and a sister, Mrs. Frank Mudd, of near Mexico.

The funeral services were conducted from St. Brendan's Catholic church in this city Monday morning by the Rev. Father Casey. The pall bearers were W. P. Smith, T. E. Bolen, Edward Dermody, Frank Wynn, and Hugh Donnelly and Carl Doherty. Interment was made in the Catholic cemetery here.

The Rev. A. A. Wallace of the Presbyterian church.

James A. Quinlan, aged 63, died at his home, eight miles northeast of Mexico, at 10:30 Saturday night, after a long illness. He leaves a wife and one son, James, to mourn his death.

Mr. Quinlan was born in Newburg, New York, and came to Missouri with his parents at the age of three years. He lived for a time in Hannibal, later moving to Monroe county, where he lived, with the exception of a short time spent in Ralls county, until he came to Mexico in 1886. Besides his wife and son he is survived by two brothers, J. J. Quinlan and Dan Quinlan, of Mexico, and a sister, Mrs. Frank Mudd, of near Mexico.

The funeral services were conducted from St. Brendan's Catholic church in this city Monday morning by the Rev. Father Casey. The pall bearers were W. P. Smith, T. E. Bolen, Edward Dermody, Frank Wynn, and Hugh Donnelly and Carl Doherty. Interment was made in the Catholic cemetery here.

The Rev. A. A. Wallace of the Presbyterian church.

James A. Quinlan, aged 63, died at his home, eight miles northeast of Mexico, at 10:30 Saturday night, after a long illness. He leaves a wife and one son, James, to mourn his death.

Mr. Quinlan was born in Newburg, New York, and came to Missouri with his parents at the age of three years. He lived for a time in Hannibal, later moving to Monroe county, where he lived, with the exception of a short time spent in Ralls county, until he came to Mexico in 1886. Besides his wife and son he is survived by two brothers, J. J. Quinlan and Dan Quinlan, of Mexico, and a sister, Mrs. Frank Mudd, of near Mexico.

The funeral services were conducted from St. Brendan's Catholic church in this city Monday morning by the Rev. Father Casey. The pall bearers were W. P. Smith, T. E. Bolen, Edward Dermody, Frank Wynn, and Hugh Donnelly and Carl Doherty. Interment was made in the Catholic cemetery here.

The Rev. A. A. Wallace of the Presbyterian church.

James A. Quinlan, aged 63, died at his home, eight miles northeast of Mexico, at 10:30 Saturday night, after a long illness. He leaves a wife and one son, James, to mourn his death.

Mr. Quinlan was born in Newburg, New York, and came to Missouri with his parents at the age of three years. He lived for a time in Hannibal, later moving to Monroe county, where he lived, with the exception of a short time spent in Ralls county, until he came to Mexico in 1886. Besides his wife and son he is survived by two brothers, J. J. Quinlan and Dan Quinlan, of Mexico, and a sister, Mrs. Frank Mudd, of near Mexico.

The funeral services were conducted from St. Brendan's Catholic church in this city Monday morning by the Rev. Father Casey. The pall bearers were W. P. Smith, T. E. Bolen, Edward Dermody, Frank Wynn, and Hugh Donnelly and Carl Doherty. Interment was made in the Catholic cemetery here.

The Rev. A. A. Wallace of the Presbyterian church.

James A. Quinlan, aged 63, died at his home, eight miles northeast of Mexico, at 10:30 Saturday night, after a long illness. He leaves a wife and one son, James, to mourn his death.

Mr. Quinlan was born in Newburg, New York, and came to Missouri with his parents at the age of three years. He lived for a time in Hannibal, later moving to Monroe county, where he lived, with the exception of a short time spent in Ralls county, until he came to Mexico in 1886. Besides his wife and son he is survived by two brothers, J. J. Quinlan and Dan Quinlan, of Mexico, and a sister, Mrs. Frank Mudd, of near Mexico.

The funeral services were conducted from St. Brendan's Catholic church in this city Monday morning by the Rev. Father Casey. The pall bearers were W. P. Smith, T. E. Bolen, Edward Dermody, Frank Wynn, and Hugh Donnelly and Carl Doherty. Interment was made in the Catholic cemetery here.

The Rev. A. A. Wallace of the Presbyterian church.

James A. Quinlan, aged 63, died at his home, eight miles northeast of Mexico, at 10:30 Saturday night, after a long illness. He leaves a wife and one son, James, to mourn his death.

Mr. Quinlan was born in Newburg, New York, and came to Missouri with his parents at the age of three years. He lived for a time in Hannibal, later moving to Monroe county, where he lived, with the exception of a short time spent in Ralls county, until he came to Mexico in 1886. Besides his wife and son he is survived by two brothers, J. J. Quinlan and Dan Quinlan, of Mexico, and a sister, Mrs. Frank Mudd, of near Mexico.

The funeral services were conducted from St. Brendan's Catholic church in this city Monday morning by the Rev. Father Casey. The pall bearers were W. P. Smith, T. E. Bolen, Edward Dermody, Frank Wynn, and Hugh Donnelly and Carl Doherty. Interment was made in the Catholic cemetery here.

The Rev. A. A. Wallace of the Presbyterian church.

James A. Quinlan, aged 63, died at his home, eight miles northeast of Mexico, at 10:30 Saturday night, after a long illness. He leaves a wife and one son, James, to mourn his death.

Mr. Quinlan was born in Newburg, New York, and came to Missouri with his parents at the age of three years. He lived for a time in Hannibal, later moving to Monroe county, where he lived, with the exception of a short time spent in Ralls county, until he came to Mexico in 1886. Besides his wife and son he is survived by two brothers, J. J. Quinlan and Dan Quinlan, of Mexico, and a sister, Mrs. Frank Mudd, of near Mexico.

The funeral services were conducted from St. Brendan's Catholic church in this city Monday morning by the Rev. Father Casey. The pall bearers were W. P. Smith, T. E. Bolen, Edward Dermody, Frank Wynn, and Hugh Donnelly and Carl Doherty. Interment was made in the Catholic cemetery here.

The Rev. A. A. Wallace of the Presbyterian church.

James A. Quinlan, aged 63, died at his home, eight miles northeast of Mexico, at 10:30 Saturday night, after a long illness. He leaves a wife and one son, James, to mourn his death.

Mr. Quinlan was born in Newburg, New York, and came to Missouri with his parents at the age of three years. He lived for a time in Hannibal, later moving to Monroe county, where he lived, with the exception of a short time spent in Ralls county, until he came to Mexico in 1886. Besides his wife and son he is survived by two brothers, J. J. Quinlan and Dan Quinlan, of Mexico, and a sister, Mrs. Frank Mudd, of near Mexico.

The funeral services were conducted from St. Brendan's Catholic church in this city Monday morning by the Rev. Father Casey. The pall bearers were W. P. Smith, T. E. Bolen, Edward Dermody, Frank Wynn, and Hugh Donnelly and Carl Doherty. Interment was made in the Catholic cemetery here.

The Rev. A. A. Wallace of the Presbyterian church.

James A. Quinlan, aged 63, died at his home, eight miles northeast of Mexico, at 10:30 Saturday night, after a long illness. He leaves a wife and one son, James, to mourn his death.

Mr. Quinlan was born in Newburg, New York, and came to Missouri with his parents at the age of three years. He lived for a time in Hannibal, later moving to Monroe county, where he lived, with the exception of a short time spent in Ralls county, until he came to Mexico in 1886. Besides his wife and son he is survived by two brothers, J. J. Quinlan and Dan Quinlan, of Mexico, and a sister, Mrs. Frank Mudd, of near Mexico.

The funeral services were conducted from St. Brendan's Catholic church in this city Monday morning by the Rev. Father Casey. The pall bearers were W. P. Smith, T. E. Bolen, Edward Dermody, Frank Wynn, and Hugh Donnelly and Carl Doherty. Interment was made in the Catholic cemetery here.

The Rev. A. A. Wallace of the Presbyterian church.

James A. Quinlan, aged 63, died at his home, eight miles northeast of Mexico, at 10:30 Saturday night, after a long illness. He leaves a wife and one son, James, to mourn his death.

Mr. Quinlan was born in Newburg, New York, and came to Missouri with his parents at the age of three years. He lived for a time in Hannibal, later moving to Monroe county, where he lived, with the exception of a short time spent in Ralls county, until he came to Mexico in 1886. Besides his wife and son he is survived by two brothers, J. J. Quinlan and Dan Quinlan, of Mexico, and a sister, Mrs. Frank Mudd, of near Mexico.